

About A.G.'s wife, Laura...

Inside the Forbidden City, Beijing
2008 Olympic Games

There are many things I've been blessed to experience, but I never thought in my wildest dreams that one day I would be watching my husband compete in the Olympic Games! A.G. continues to train (almost everyday) to make the 2012 Olympic Team. I love my husband so much and I'm happy to develop and maintain this website for others to see.

A little about me-

- I am originally from Hamburg, NY, near Buffalo where I attended Hamburg High School and my family still resides in Western NY.
- A.G. & I met at Ashland University, while I was in college. I'm not a track athlete, but involved in health and fitness which combined our interests of working out and staying healthy.
- Currently I teach at Ashland University within the Department of Sport Sciences.
- I think our dog, Tess, is one of the cutest dogs ever! She is a three part breed/mix- Chesapeake Bay Retriever, Lab, and St. Bernard.

- A.G. & I recently had a baby, his name is Geo and was born in August 2011. He has been a true blessing in our lives and continues to keep us busy!

Thank you for your support! We count our blessings for the rare, outstanding experiences and opportunities we've had and we pray for future health, happiness and strength.
